(A Game) No comments: 10 Tweets About me I am a teenager. And not that kinda teenager who is still in grade 8 and likes the new iPhone but this is the teenager who has been playing around with windows for 4-5 years and also has been hunting with a rifle since 9-10 years of age.. Hello all I am new to the forum and started lurking here looking for instruction on how to be a NINJA. I'm a 15 year old girl who's been playing around with programming since she was 7, and Ive been hacking up a storm but was almost banned from the CS forums due to how smart i was and started to add my own comments to threads, rather than add the code to the thread.
Anyway i love computer development and use it mostly for fun but to make some money to be honest, I want to make a kick ass game so i started the of topic and it picked up I guess. I want to learn how to use Unity and learn to do it really well by What's New in the?

- Automatically kills all popups before they can appear
- Easy to use
- Runs quietly in the background
- Doesn't require a permission to be enabled
- You can set a maximum amount of time you want to prevent popups, in minutes
- Statistics are recorded for later review
- Hide will be disabled if a user has previously enabled the Show Force Close button
- Hide won't be disabled if a user didn't have the Show Force Close option enabled in the settings
- It works for all popups not just internet popups
- It only works for YouTube and other sites where you click to reveal
- If the popup has "top" to show the user, then this will disable popups as well
- It also works with search toolbars, so that you get the option of searching, then get the option to not have the toolbar to avoid search popups
- You can even force the creation of popup blockers
- The extension is compatible with Chrome 3, and later versions
- I have never experienced any problems with this extension
- It works with the Show Force Close Chrome feature
- It works with the Hide toggled feature from the Settings dialog
- It works with the Hide Settings feature
- It works with the Hide toggled feature from the context menu
- It works with the Hide Settings feature
